Stamping and Works in Progress

I acknowledge my entries will not be accepted if the authentication stamp is not visible on the back of the actual painting surface or canvas. No stamps will be on the stretcher bars.

I acknowledge my entries have been produced outdoors in the spirit of Plein Air, in the state of Utah, on a properly stamped surface. This includes any/all mixed media added to each entry.

Submission

Artwork is ready to exhibit as per contest rules and instructions, including any hardware/materials required to display my entry. I have used no claw hangers.

I understand that no works of art may be removed from the museum until the conclusion of the exhibition.

Upon submission of work, I automatically waive all claims for damage or loss against the Museum, including the officers, volunteers, and employees.

I affirm that each entry is my own, original work created within the time parameters of the competition.

Exhibition & Sales

I understand that Brigham City Museum of Art & History retains 20% of all sales of artwork produced during the competition. Any payments for art sold will be sent to artists within three weeks of the end of the exhibition or handed to the artist upon pick up of unsold works. Sales made either by agreement with the buyer prior to the competition or through arrangements following the competition are subject to the same agreement.

I acknowledge that if I do not pick up my entries by 5:00 PM on Saturday, May 1, 2021 they become property of the museum.

I acknowledge and authorize the use of photos taken throughout this event, which may include artists and their artwork, for use as promotional elements for the Brigham City Museum of Art & History and Brigham City Corporation.
